Justice in Motion and Inspire have teamed up to create a project that will engage and inspire communities with life changing messages. A powerful juxtaposition of childlike play and brutal reality delivered through an innovative medium.

Parkour, Play, and Performance - A full day of activities that will no doubt impact your community.

ON EDGE will fully premiere in 2019, yet now you have the unique chance to see the very beginnings of it, ideas in their first seeds, and how it all fits together within the vision of the FREEDOM Tour.

The FREEDOM Tour has 3 distinct, yet complementary parts:

A parkour park for kids (...young and old) to play on under the supervision of highly experienced parkour athletes.

A theatre piece with the potential to wow, delight and move to tears, about the issues of modern slavery and forced labour within the construction industry.

A platform for discussions about both slavery, and the important subject of freedom in all its form.

The result... something that far surpasses the sum of its parts!

ENTERTAINMENT AND EDUCATION PLAYFULNESS AND COLD REALITY SLAVERY AND FREEDOM

ON EDGE is being developed in partnership with the CIOB (Chartered Institute of Building), and the GLAA (Gangmasters & Labour Abuse Authority), and funded by the CIOB, Arts Council England, Penningtons Manches Charitable Foundation, Public Art Fund, and supported by 101 Outdoor Arts Creation Space. With many thanks also to all other supporters that help make this project happen!

We are developing a brand-new piece of physical theatre, that will be breath-taking, visually stunning and highly engaging. In ON EDGE we will explore issues of modern slavery within the construction industry, and will tell a compelling story through parkour, theatre, video, original soundtrack and an impressive set structure.

We are working together with a cast of international parkour athletes and acclaimed Polish director Pawel Szkotak from Teatr Biuro Podróży.
